Gentlemen:

I wrote Mr. Metcalf, of the New York Public Library, with regard to a collection of Confederate paper money, which my father collected during his lifetime, with the request that he advise me as to its value, and also where I might obtain a possible purchaser. In reply he has referred me to you.

I think the collection is nearly complete. Could you advise me with regard to its value and also where I might obtain a possible purchaser?

I would be very glad to show you the collection, should you so desire.

Thanking you in advance, I am
